There is a Pianola Piano For Everyone

The distinction which the Pianola Piano enjoys has given rise in some minds to a very mistaken notion regarding its actual cost.

To be sure, magnificent instruments such as the Steinway Grand Pianola Piano may be purchased. Or Weber Upright Pianola Pianos, like those in the possession of Emperor William of Germany. Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, or King Alphonso of Spain.

At the same time, even those of very modest income may share with these Monarchs and the world's wealthiest people, the keen musical pleasures the Pianola Piano is alone capable of

The Stuyvesant Pianola Piano Costs But $550

And the Easy Purchase Plan on which any Pianola Piano may be bought, actually puts this instrument within the reach of anyone who can afford a piano at all.

The Stuyvesant itself has for many years been recognized as a leading moderate-priced piano. Many instruments, much more widely known, do not possess nearly the musical quality or structural soundness of the Stuyvesant.

The Stuyvesant Pianola Piano is this excellent piano with a genuine Pianola built into it as an integral part. This removes it entirely from the ranks of so-called player-pianos, containing 'players' of little or no musical value and reputation.

The Pianola, manufactured solely by The Aeolian Company, is recognized throughout the civilized world as the one fully developed and Standard Piano-Player.

Playing the piano by means of the Pianola is not merely playing better than any other similar instrument permits. It is playing differently. According to the testimony of practically the entire body of the world's leading musicians, the results obtained with the Pianofa are actual art. The results from other instruments-simply more or less correct piano-playing
